ENERGY TRUST LOGO REQUIREMENTS

Clear space and placement: The “Trade Ally of Energy Trust” logo must be included on all pieces and should be smaller than the trade ally company’s logo. Space surrounding the “Trade Ally of Energy Trust” logo at all times is determined by the size of the “burst” symbol of the logo, as shown below. Preferred placement is the lower right corner of the ad if possible. The trade ally logo may only be used in black or in white against a solid color background.

Marketing pieces must use high-resolution logos provided by Energy Trust.

Text references: In text, trade allies may use the terminology “an approved trade ally of Energy Trust of Oregon” or “a trade ally of Energy Trust of Oregon.”

Websites: If a trade ally website is co-branded, the page(s) that mention Energy Trust must include a link to the appropriate Energy Trust web page.

Apparel: Apparel design must be approved by Energy Trust before production.

- Logo placement: For shirts, place “Trade Ally of Energy Trust” logo on the left chest or sleeve. For hats, place logo above brim or across back.
- Apparel colors: On light colors, use the black “Trade Ally of Energy Trust” logo. On dark colors, use the white logo.

Exclusions: The “Trade Ally of Energy Trust” logo may not be used on vehicle signs.

LANGUAGE AND MESSAGING REQUIREMENTS

Incentives and tax credits

- Do not refer to Energy Trust cash incentives as “rebates.” They are “incentives” or “cash incentives.”
- Tax credits may not be referred to as cash incentives.
- If advertising or promotion refers to tax credits in combination with Energy Trust cash incentives, they must be referred to as tax credits and cash incentives. Example: “Small wind systems may qualify for tax credits and incentives totaling $2,500.”
- If advertising or promotion refers to the percentage of cost-savings available through tax credits and incentives, it must include the words “up to.” Example: “Up to 50 percent of system cost covered by tax credits and incentives.”

Net-metering

- Net-metering is designed to offset energy costs, not to allow customers to become energy wholesalers. Language must conform to that idea.

Energy Trust and Oregon Department of Energy

- Energy Trust of Oregon must be referred to as “Energy Trust of Oregon” on first sentence, and “Energy Trust” thereafter. Energy Trust may not be referred to by its initials (ETO).
- Oregon Department of Energy should not be referred to as ODOE.
